Jerseys Buying a Farm

Irwin Gurney Interested in Agriculture—Making Good With Projects—Plans to Own Farm

The mental vision of owning a farm after he graduates at Norway High school, in three years, is one incentive that Irwin Gurney, 15, has to carry on in a practical way.

Irwin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie D. Gurney, Water Street, Norway, and he is a member of the Agricultural Department in the high school. He has been interested in vegetable gardening and eventually developed a desire for live stock. This plan might seem bound up with hardships handicapped on account of cramped quarters in a village. He has overcome the obstacles and is on the road to realize his dream.

To go back a little, we learn that two years ago he formed a partnership with his father and they bought 700 day old chicks. The venture prospered and 100 layers were kept while cockerels and culls furnished broilers.

With his share of the profits, he purchased a Jersey heifer "Buttercup." Tucking away money saved by the sale of whole milk, butter, and skim milk, provided the means to buy another purchased Jersey, "Jumbo."

With the profits from this house colored dairy herd, Irwin lately invested in three, four weeks old pigs. He plans to keep one for a breeder and two will be fed for the pork barrel next fall.

"What next?" asked the scribe. Right back came the answer, "I have the cows for my agricultural project in school. I expect them to pay their keep, buy my clothes, and furnish more than a nest egg for the farm I want to buy." "How do you plan to do this?" was the next question.

"They are a side line that I hope will bring profits and help the cows pay for the farm," was Irwin's optimistic reply. In the accompanying photograph, Irwin is seen from left to right in Irwin Gurney, the ambitious "Agriculture" student; "Buttercup," furnished milk and butter enough to purchase "Jumbo," the next question.

"There is an advantage that the place furnishes most of the hay, but grain must come out of the milk money."

At present a flock of twenty-five layers are giving their bit for the general fund. The young farmer is also active in 4-H Club work and is laying a foundation for the vocation he anticipates.

SILK SHOWER FOR MISS FROST

Miss Reta M. Frost was the special guest at a surprise silk show given in honor of her approaching marriage to Ernest L. Lawrence of Augusta.

The pleasant affair was Wednesday evening, June 7, in the pine grove adjoining Miss Frost's home in South Paris, and was carried out by Myrtle Robbins, Myrtle Robbins and Josephine Locke.

Miss Frost was having an automobile ride with Mrs. Robbins, the guests assembled and set tables in the grove. Many flowers from the garden were given to the bride. The decorations, and fields were used for the decorations.

There were many surprises when the auto party arrived at the grove and all enjoyed opening gift packages brought by the guests. Punch, fancy cookies and cake were served during the hours of sociability. Those who were present were Nina Goodwin, Lulu Abbott, Adelle Lovell, Mrs. and Mrs. Fred L. Farnsworth, Vera Wood, Louise Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Woods, Myrtle Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Robbins, Robert Robbins and Flora Farnsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan spent the day, Friday, with Mrs. Julia Russell. Mr. Jordan has been ill and confined to the house and this was his first trip from home for some time.

George Foster, Cottage Street, Thursday evening and received a bad gash on the right forearm. Six stitches were needed to tie the severed cords and muscles. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering.

Mrs. C. Saunders was graduated at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital in Boston, June 6. She is the daughter of Mrs. Emma F. Saunders, formerly of So. Waterford, and graduated at Norway High School, class of 1929. In February, 1931, she started her course in training.

Mrs. Hattie B. Greenleaf of Portland attended the recent graduation of her daughter, Mrs. C. Saunders. She has been present at the commencement of the entire family, a mother and two sons.

EVERETT HUNT

Relatives and acquaintances have received news that Charles A. Everett of Norway and Miss Mary Sue Hunt of Norway were married June 4, at Albion, N. C.

The ceremony was performed at high noon at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church. Rev. P. A. Bower, the pastor, officiated. In the presence of Mrs. E. L. Mendenhall and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lefler.

The bride is a graduate of Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C. She was a member of the Baptist W. M. U. Training School in Louisville, Ky., for one year. She has been in the public schools of North Carolina for six years and has taught this outfit in the Albemarle grammar school.

Mr. Everett is the son of Alfred A. Everett and the late Laura Everett of Norway. He graduated from the high school in the 1924 class and has been employed in the local shoe factories. At present he is connected with Duke's News Service at Albion, where Mr. and Mrs. Everett will make their home.

ROADS TARRED

Crew to Return Later

The roads in this vicinity to be tarred received the coat of tar last week and the tarring outfit left first of the week. It is expected they will return in August to tar the new Harrison road, when completed.

It has been said that there are two and a half miles from Norway Lake to the new project that will not be tarred unless special arrangements can be made. With that section put in shape to receive tar, the whole road would be in good condition and be a good black road throughout.

It looks like economy to put it in shape and finish it up as it should be while the crew is here on the job and make the job complete. We understand there is still hope in receiving federal aid to complete the job at this point.

Applied for Bank Charter

Only Fifty Shares Remain to be Sold

Application for a new National Bank in Norway was made to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, New York, on June 15, 1933. The application was made by Fred W. Sanborn, Leroy Spiller, Walter P. Cullinan, L. H. Cushman, all of Norway and Edwin J. Mann, of West Paris.

Only 50 of the 2,500 shares remains to be subscribed and one hundred per cent is expected before Saturday night.

Among the subscribers are wage earners, farmers, merchants, manufacturers, professional men and other representative citizens residing in Paris, Waterford, Lovell, Oxford and Norway. It is a fine thing to show this cooperation and community spirit in a splendid movement to make recovery after the trying financial situation this community has been in since March.

IMPORTANT COMMITTEE MEETING

Will Be Held at I. O. O. F. Hall

An important committee meeting will be held Thursday evening, June 15, at the I. O. O. F. Hall. The committee will consist of all the officers of the Old Fellows, the Rebekahs and the Grange, at Odd Fellows' Hall at 7:30. A special effort on the part of each officer should be made to attend, as it is very important.

The Daughters of Veterans met for Friday evening and made plans for the Friday evening and Saturday morning at the Swan Cottage, Norway Center. Mrs. Swan invited the Daughters and Auxiliary and the Ladies of the G. A. R. of South Paris and there were some over forty there, several of the Sons attending. Those who went in the afternoon enjoyed a walk to the lake shore. A fine supper was enjoyed, followed by a social evening. A beautiful sunset was admired.

WHERE THE PINE TREE NEEDLES WEAVE

(Ordway Grove)

We are told in song and story of a land beyond the seas, White a faded magic carpet Gave all that they would please. How justly a wishing carpet on the night, Far away through fairyland, I have found this magic carpet, I and this really, truly mine!

It is woven by the fairies, Soft and brown its lovely texture, Starred with flowers that glow and go! I have breathed it—and I know! There's a new life in it, and I know! And your hearts no more will give, While we walk my "magic carpet" Where the pine tree needles weave. —HARRISON GARDNER (GREGG) GATES, Norway, Maine.

SNOWCRAFT SLEDGE

A sledge 11 feet long for a polar expedition was made at the Snowcraft Co. and expressed to New York, Monday afternoon. The sledge is white ash and made in sections for airplane storage. It is possible to assemble the parts into a double-headed sled, a three-quarter length sled or a single one. This was made from a blue print in record time and put up in a substantial way with bolts. Holes were bored for steel wire trusses and a blue print in record time and put up in a substantial way with bolts. Rustfield Cemetery Needs Attention

One of Norway's Oldest Burying Grounds, Dating Back to Pioneer Days, Looks Neglected—Funds Needed.

Rustfield burying ground on Greenleaf Avenue, rear of the A. L. Clark Drug Store, is suffering from a lack of funds. Grass should be mowed in the avenues and a majority of lots show neglect. Harry E. Lovejoy, the sexton, and Frank Estes have lightened the headstones. Occasionally moved the grass and per- fecting other work without remuneration. In past years the town has appropriated money for upkeep and descendants of old families buried there have contributed money or made improvements as individuals.

The yard is enclosed with an iron fence along Greenleaf Avenue and well cared for on the other three sides. There are no rank bushes or brambles although a few locusts have seeded themselves. Pines, elms and locusts have attained considerable growth, thus adding to the appearance of the cemetery. Tall grass, moss covered stones and irregularity in level of lots give an impression of neglect, which is by no means intentional.

A few dollars will go far to make a good appearance. Persons willing to do a little for the general fund should send their contributions to Raymond H. Cushman, of West Paris. Others desiring improvements on individual lots can get in touch with Harry E. Lovejoy, who will faithfully carry out directions.

Rustfield is among the oldest public burying grounds in town. Henry Rust, Jr., son of the first proprietor, conveyed the parcel of one acre, nine rods to the town, October 15, 1805. The same year the Pike's Hill yard was deeded to the town, but not accepted, being considered too far from the hamlet of Rust's Mills (Upper Main Street).

Inscriptions on headstones indicate that interments were frequent in 1805 and the following years, until Pine Grove Cemetery was opened in the late 30's. By that time, all the space in Rustfield had been taken and many lots were crowded. In later years, burials have been few.

Thirty years ago the cemetery shared equal honors with Norway Pine Grove in Memorial Day exercises, but of late, placing flags and wreaths has been performed by detachments from the patriotic societies. The remains of at least four Revolutionary soldiers and twelve Civil War veterans lie there.

Men and women prominent in setting Rustfield and in the expansion of the hamlet into a thriving village of Norway have their last resting place in this quiet yard, less than twenty rods from busy Main Street. The graves are in the vault under the mound of earth near the middle of the yard. The last of the immediate family was entombed years ago and the doorway sealed. Anna Barton, print- ess and book binder; Levi Whitman, for fifty years a lawyer, the Crockett, the Bennetts, the Browns, Capt. Samuel Ames, the first miller, the Parkhursts, the Shuckers, the Hobbs and many others prominent in early local history are identified on the slate and marble headstones.

FREE MAN ALONZO HALL

After suffering many months ending with a week of critical illness, Freeman Alonzo Hall, familiarly known as "Lon", Hall passed away at his home on Brown Street, corner of Paris Street, Norway, about 5:30 on June 11.

He was born at Frankfort, Me., March 20, 1863, the son of Frankman N. and Al- mina Dunlap Hall and lived for some years in Portland, Me. He was a member of Craigie Lodge K. O. P. at Oxford and for years had served the town as constable and special police officer on many occasions for a number of years he was night watchman on the fair grounds during the annual show.

Surviving are the widow, six children, Forest of Saco, Mrs. Vera Scott, Mrs. Auburn, Francis J. Hall of Lynn, Mass., Mrs. Thomas McIntyre, Earl and Freeman Hall of Norway and five grand- children.

The funeral was held at his late home Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. attended by Rev. Libby of Mechanic Falls. The bearers were from Craigie and Pinessewasse Lodge K. O. P. Interment was in the Webber cemetery in Oxford.

REPORT OF NORWAY FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

Leroy C. Luce, secretary and treasurer of the Norway Fish and Game Association, has mailed the annual report to members and others interested in the Association. Amount in the Savings Bank in May was $436.71. The sum of $155 will be spent on a dam at Keweenaw Lake in Stoneham and $200 for repairs on the dam at Sand Pond, Norway. The Association sponsored the following laws passed by Legislature to become effective June 30:

1. To open Lake Pinessewasse to ice fishing.

2. To close same to smelting.

3. To open tributaries to same for fishing.

4. To limit the catch of trout in Big and Little Pinessewasse and Sand Pond to five trout or 10 pounds.

Committee in charge of the job at Keweenaw Lake is George L. Curtis, Charles F. Cummings, Game Wardens Wm. French and James L. Walker. Committee for Sand Pond is Philip Noble, Homer R. Luck and Alfred Snow.

At the annual meeting, officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President—J. B. Shepard. Vice President—A. Tucker. Secretary and Treasurer—L. C. Luce. Executive Committee—P. T. Noble, Alfred Snow, Leon Martin, Arthur Nelson, H. H. Homer, R. J. Stiles and J. O. Tru.

Auditors—J. O. Tru and F. W. Sanborn.

A heat wave of three days came to a climax Sunday and boosted the mercury above the 90 mark. A hot breeze that sprung up occasionally made only little impression on the sweltering masses. Pa- posee Pond, Pinessewasse Lake, the Little Androscoggin river, Tripp Lake and Bear Pond in Hartford
